

Trina Fleming Chief Executive Officer

Trina is leading the organization to further growth and its rightful place as a community hub of support for job seekers, agency partners, individuals, businesses, corporations and donors alike. Her highly skilled leadership and depth of experience with administrative, technology, facilities, human resources and marketing, in addition to solid external board service, serves WHW well as it responds to the unique needs of its service population.

Trina's external service to others is lived out in her leadership roles with Marketplace Women of Orange County, Leadership In Heels, the Women's Business Institute and Finestone Leadership Institute at California Southern University. She is also a former long-time Board of Directors member of the Orange County chapter of the National Association of Women Business Owners, coaching and mentoring women business owners and executives towards full potential.

In 2011, Trina was selected by Farmers and Merchants Bank as one of their Women of Courage, an award which celebrates the courage and honor of brave women who have made notable strides in business and community service. In 2015, Trina was invited to be the keynote speaker at the Regional Conference of Students Consulting for Nonprofit Organizations (SCNO), where she presented on "The Business of Nonprofits."

Originally from Washington, D.C., Trina has lived and worked in Orange County, California for the past 30 plus years. When time permits, Trina loves nothing better than being on the golf course, listening to audio books and figuring out a tough Sudoku puzzle.

Education:

Master of Business Administration, Webster University

Bachelor of Science, Management Information Systems, Vanguard University
